VILLA DESCRIPTION

VILLA 609 IN BAY OF ISLANDS, NEW ZEALAND

Only twenty five meters from the ocean, the architect designed Beach House features innovative exterior and interior design with all consideration given to assimilating the building into the land and ocean surrounds. Interaction with the environment is an integral feature of the Beach House, as opposed to ‘hovering’ over it in a pretentious manner.

The Beach House aims to capture the essence of the uniquely New Zealand bach (or beach house) - a celebrated part of New Zealand’s culture. A perfect blend of comfort and service provides the warmth and intimacy you would expect in a small private retreat.

Guest accommodation covers the entire third level of the Beach House with three beautifully appointed bedrooms and en-suites. Every room features an irresistible panorama cleverly designed to give privacy to individuals and flexibility for larger groups. Great care has been taken to protect privacy and guests can do as little or as much as required. Individual needs are taken into account and there can be as little or as much contact with the owners as you require.

Each bedroom features a King-size bed and a generous and well appointed en-suite. Bedroom doors open onto the front deck which doubles as a cleverly designed walkway to the gardens and beach. Each room has its own entry and exit to the beach. All bedrooms have been ‘future proofed’ for the technological age, so if you feel the need to watch television, (we don’t think you will !) plug in your laptop, or communicate with your home or business, full facilities are available. A lounge / library and kitchenette complement the guest area. Reading material relating to the flora and fauna and history of the area will ensure your stay here is as informative as it is relaxing. The guest lounge includes television, stereo (CD), library and dining table. The guest lounge has a ‘complimentary stocked’ refrigerator and a ‘kitchenette’ to prepare light snacks and a complimentary bottle of ‘bubbles’.
